

Title	Inequality in the socioeconomic burden and prognosis of multiple long-term conditions (MLTCs)
Institution/Division	UCL Institute of Epidemiology & Health Care
Funding Period	27 Sept 2021- 26 Sept 2024
Stipend	£17, 285 for 2020-21. 2021-22 tbc
How to Apply	Please send your CV and a one-page statement on why you would like to do this particular PhD to Floriana Bortolotti (f.bortolotti@ucl.ac.uk)
PhD Title	INEQUALITY IN THE BURDEN &amp; PROGNOSIS OF MULTIPLE LONG-TERM CONDITIONS
The Studentship	Applications are sought for a three-year PhD studentship which is co-funded by the Health Foundation and the Economic and Social Research Council through the UCL, Bloomsbury & East London (UBEL) Doctoral Training Partnership. This studentship will use data from the English Longitudinal Study of Ageing and linked registry data to better understand experiences of living with multiple long-term conditions. The studentships will start in Sept 2021 and be based in The UCL Department of Epidemiology and Public Health ( http://www.ucl.ac.uk/epidemiology ) as well as The Health Foundation ( https://www.health.org.uk ).
Key Requirements	Applicants are likely to have a First Class or Upper Second Class Bachelor's degree, preferably in a quantitative social science or population health, but degrees in biomedical sciences will be considered if some experience of social science can be demonstrated, and will preferably already hold a Master's degree (preferably with a merit or distinction) in a relevant topic, preferably a quantitative social science, social epidemiology, population health or public health. Applications from first generation graduates or ethnic minority communities are encouraged. If this applies to you, please let us know in your statement.
Further Details	If you have any queries about this studentship, please contact the proposed primary supervisor, Professor Anne McMunn ( a.mcmunn@ucl.ac.uk ) who will be joined on the supervisory panel by Dr Mai Stafford at the Health Foundation and Dr Paola Zaninotto at UCL.
Closing Date	7th March 2021

Latest time for Submission of Applications	Midnight
Details for Submission	Please send your CV and a one-page statement on why you would like to do this particular PhD to Floriana Bortolotti (f.bortolotti@ucl.ac.uk)
Interview date	19 March 2021